Our Mission

Since founded in 1994, our mission has been to help improve the interpretation industry and raise awareness of interpretation as a profession. We continue to achieve our mission by providing world-class, professionally trained interpreters, teaching interpreter workshops, and educating interpreters as well as perspective clients on how to maintain emphasis on producing effective communication.

Our Experience

With the experience of over 5,000 conferences serving the needs of businesses and governments around the globe, we at Lexicon-Global can help you make your events truly world-class.

Conference Interpreters

Conference interpreters are a select few among the highest-quality professionals available, to put it succinctly, conference interpreters are the most talented interpreters in the world.

Simultaneous interpretation is a unique art form of conveying language and culture in an instantaneous manner - simultaneously. Conference interpreters carry the highest possible credentials from the United Nations, U.S. State Department, and moreover are AIIC (International Association of Conference Interpreters). This is to say that conference interpreters are true linguists and we always work with the best.

Who Hires Us

Lexicon-Global provides simultaneous interpretation companies throughout the globe. Whether it is an international conference, business meeting or a visit from a foreign delegation, Lexicon-Global is professionals choice. Here you will see some of the companies that have used our service to make their events successful.

Our Technicians

In addition to the responsibility of installing, striking and operating the systems, our technicians will support you in every aspect of the conference proceeding. Our technicians are trained to diagnose and remedy any unforeseen issues with the systems, and ensure your event is a flawless success.

Interpretation Equipment

Simultaneous interpretation equipment (SI Equipment) is used today in business and government meetings, international conferences, bilingual workshops, site tours, training seminars, houses of worship, courthouses and educational environments.

We utilize state-of-the-art wireless interpretation systems to broadcast simultaneous language interpretation wherever language interpretation services are needed and have a solution for event the most complex requirements.

We offer two major technologies: RF Systems & IR Systems. RF systems provide a very cost effective and easy to deploy solution for language interpretation. IR systems provide the best quality and are especially designed for applications that require more than five (5) languages or when security and/or quality is the main concern.

Interpretation Booths

We offer four styles of booths to help provide you the best solution for your event. Diplomat®, Tabletop®, iBooth®, and the Whisper Cube®. Our booths are ISO compliant sound-reduction interpretation booths. Each booth allows two or three interpreters to sit and work comfortably for optimum monitoring and interpreting.

Push-to-Talk Microphones

Our Microphone Discussion Systems (Push-to-Talk Microphones) play a key role in any gathering, such as conferences, panel discussions, and press interviews. A Microphone Discussion System can perform anywhere and immediately transform any meeting into a productive discussion with tangible results.

Our Capabilities

With one of the largest inventories of interpretation equipment in North America, we have the unique capability of producing interpretation events in as many as 40 cities. We have the ability to simultaneously handle up to 32 languages in any size room, with an unlimited numbers of wireless receivers.

Our Representatives

Our representatives are experienced conference project managers and will customize a complete solution for your applications to make sure we meet your client's language needs and budget to help ensure all of your events are a success.
